

Péter Horváth: Dzsorden

272 pages

The protagonist of the novel is of exceptional talent. However, nobody knows if his father was Gypsy or an African-American soldier serving at the air base of Taszár, Hungary. He doesn't know, either, and his environment only strengthens his doubts. He starts out to find his father and the traces lead to Sweden and the US. But he can only get there with language learnig and a grant. This is what Jordan wants, and his high-school classmate and girlfriend is ready to help him. The trouble is that she is pregnant. Can their problem be solved and how? Is it their private trouble? Or just his? Or hers? The novel by Péter Horváth is pure (non)fiction, any resemblance to real persons living or dead is purely coincidental.