

Gábor T. Szántó: Kafka's Cats

An old man who survived Auschwitz would like to meet the protagonist, the author in Budapest. He says he recognised Franz Kafka in a periodical which the author edited, and claims he was in Auschwitz with Kafka. He tells stories with such accuracy that it intimidates the author who knows that Kafka died in 1924 hence he could not be in Auschwitz. He starts an investigation to find out the truth.